But Will It Wear?

Assurance that the conference of the United Nations at San Francisco will adjourn on schedule next Tuesday with its work finished somehow fails to be as encouraging as it should be.

A great task has been performed in these last two months. History will mark the conference in which the victorious powers of World War II and other like-minded nations met to discuss arrangements for permanent security from wars of aggression. But history also marks the League of Nations, which was to do the same thing—yet failed.

Now that a United Nations charter has been prepared and some of the obvious technicalities of its administration, once it is ratified, ironed out, the fact is the charter won't be of any immediate use. The League of Nations, to revert to that helpful comparison, came into existence in 1920. With 42 members at the outset, it had grown to 60 in 1935.

By 1935, the league's shortcomings were well-known. They invited the contempt of Italy, Germany and Russia. They destroyed the confidence of the small nations and encouraged the cynicism of Russia, France and Great Britain. The League of Nations, a masterpiece when it was created, did not wear well. When the time came for it to deal with a crisis, it failed. That is the test the United Nations charter must survive.

The prospect has been brightened by circumstances whose effect hardly could be over-rated. Chief among them is the fact that there has been a complete and public airing of an international negotiation. The major powers and the small nations whose security depends on the peace the major powers can save or destroy by their policies have worked together more closely these last few months than ever before. Their diplomats have disagreed on some questions, but there has been no fundamental disagreement among peoples. They know what their diplomats are ultimately going to be forced to concede, that there either will be international cooperation or international ruin.

The test of cooperation will not come now, at the close of the war, but in the years to come when post-war problems threaten to become pre-war issues. The League of Nations did not disappoint its advocates in the 1920's, when war was a remote possibility. It collapsed in the 30's when war became an immediate probability, when governments again embraced the fatal theory of settling their differences with naked force.

Now is the time to begin thinking about the issues that may test a new league in 1955 and thereafter, and to resolve that nothing will be left undone on America's part to avert the issues if possible, to settle them without war if they cannot be averted, or if they neither can be averted nor settled without war to be prepared to uphold American ideals in another crisis. The most dangerous thing that a new world league might do is create an illusion of security.

On The Way

The bill introduced in the Senate by Senators Burton, Hatch and Ball for reorganization of federal labor laws suggests that a reform movement is on the way.

For approximately 10 years the pendulum has been swinging away from moderation to the extreme position desired by the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's labor advisers. This position was supposed to be justified by the fact it was the opposite of the position favored early in the century, when employers seemingly could do no wrong in the eyes of the federal government.

The reaction from their excesses is what we have been having. The reaction from what we have been having, if the country is lucky, will be an era of moderation in which all parties concerned will be entitled to a fair break. Two wrongs never made a right. It was wrong when employers had everything their way; it is wrong when organized labor has everything its way. Moderation is overdue.

The Burton-Hatch-Ball bill proposes four direct reforms:

An independent labor relations board to replace WLW and NLRB.

An unfair labor practices tribunal to receive complaints from unions and management and to determine justification for closed shop demands.

Amendment of the Wagner Act to make its compensations apply to employees as well as employers.

Compulsory arbitration of grievances arising from contract interpretations and of all disputes arising in public utilities.

Plainly, so sweeping a revision has no chance of immediate passage, but it signifies what is on the way, in the opinion of three of the Senate's most respected members.

After Okinawa

Official announcement of the end of the battle of Okinawa and the simultaneous announcement that Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell has been named commander of the victorious 10th Army, succeeding Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., killed in the battle's closing days, point to the obvious purpose of the long campaign for control of the island.

Okinawa will become the major forward base for the assault on the Japanese mainland. Gen. Stilwell's long acquaintance with the Chinese suggests, of course, that as leader of the 10th Army he may have been chosen to direct a campaign on the Asiatic mainland, though that is pure speculation. The only obvious thing about the situation as the Okinawa campaign closes is its certain bearing on future operations against Japan; it is the most strategically important island yet to come into American possession. The casualty lists and continued reports of heavy damage to naval units make it plain that Japan made an all-out attempt to avert a military catastrophe. The battle of Okinawa may prove to be the Pacific war's most critical defeat for Japan.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, June 24.

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds augury of disruptive or disintegrating forces, sudden and surprising, which are liable to prove unprofitable and unfortunate in many directions. The tendency to inflationary, erratic or over-expansive ideas and plans would undermine desired objectives, and probably beget estrangement and commotion. A sane and logical course of action even under nervous tension is recommended.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of disruption or uprooting situations, in which erratic impulses, emotional decisions and greatly enlarged or extravagant viewpoints may create devastation and separations. To obviate this it is suggested that serious reflection, a realistic evaluation of the matters involved, with restrained and balanced conduct, be rigidly adhered to even in stress, tension and emotionalism. Keep rational and calm.

A child born on this day may be temperamental, with nerves and mind keyed to high tension, to its detriment. Early discipline and direction might curb emotionalism and extravagant tendencies and ideas.

For Monday, June 25.

MONDAY'S astrological forecast shows moderate promise of developing certain important plans or ideas, and the mind is keyed to clever and skillful insight in such direction, yet there are several signs of tricky, peculiar and subtle situations, that call for exceptional acumen, far vision, and keen grasp of underlying treacheries, in order to make any satisfactory progress. Shun all suspicious plans, projects, persons and schemes, as intrigue and fraud menace.

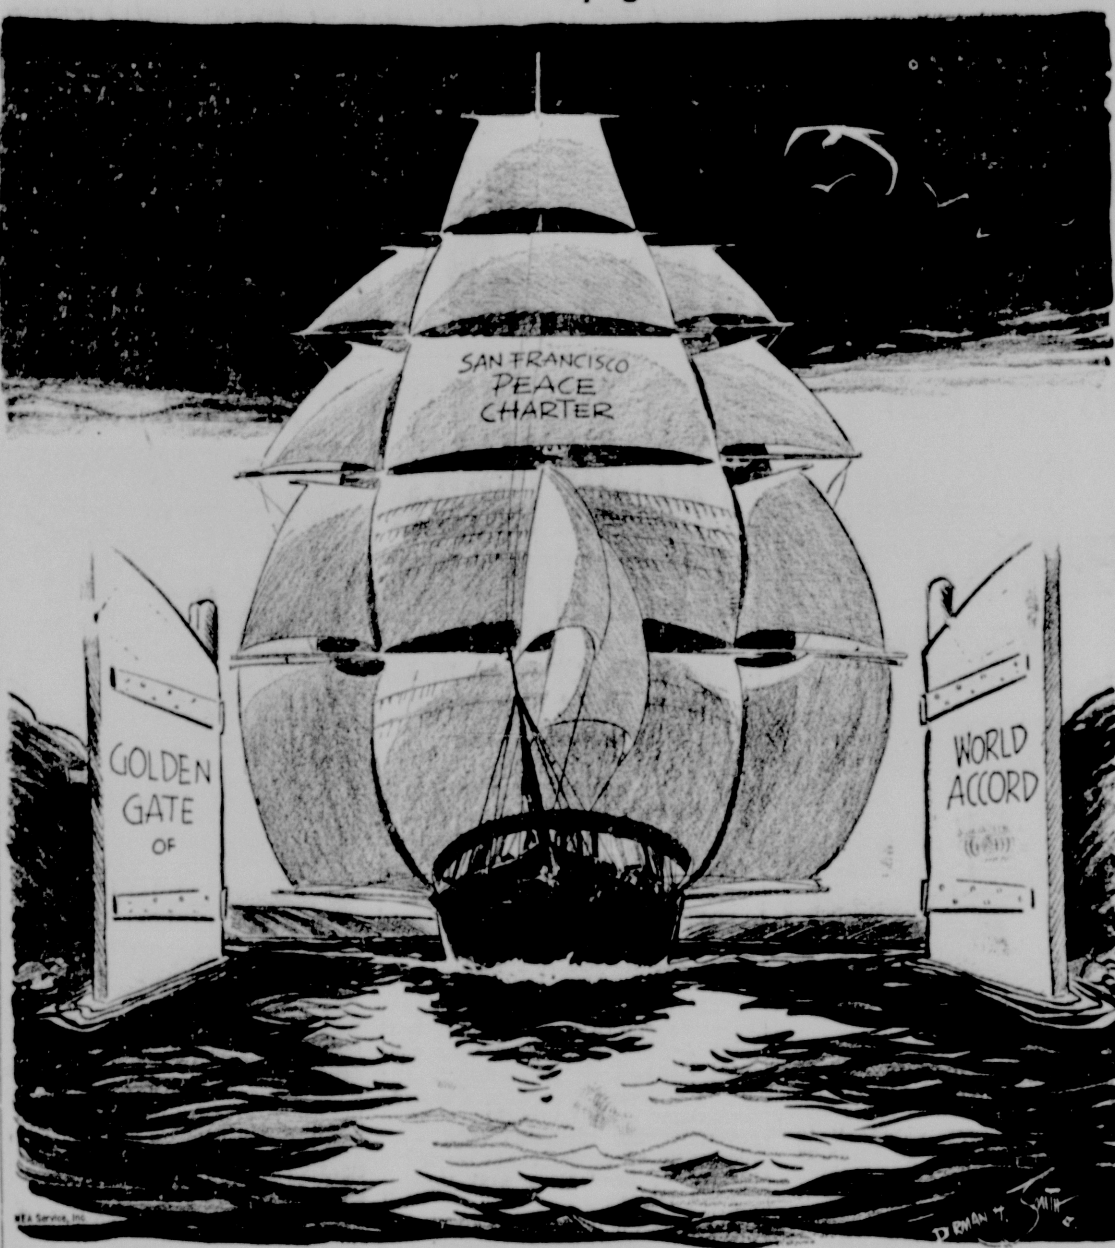

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves beset by curious, unfathomable and treacherous conditions, during the year, menacing cherished ideas and objectives, through deep laid plots, schemes, queer persons and strange propositions. The mentality may be keen, penetrating and original, but intrigue and subtlety may bring to disaster the shrewdest of plans, by sinister and sly undercurrents.

A child born on this day may have shrewd mentality but be easily duped and betrayed by intrigues and schemes.

Uncle Sam asks us to see that there's nothing on our plate at the end of a meal. That's a lot easier than seeing that there's something on it at the start.

Congress is about to go home—and get away from a lot of bills. We go home and run into 'em.

Discussion of Goitre Symptoms

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

THERE are many thousands of adults, chiefly women, with goitre, in whom the presence of the condition has never been suspected. A goitre is an enlargement of the thyroid gland in the neck. Many times, of course, the thyroid gland enlarges to such an extent that it is plainly visible. Some goitres cause very definite symptoms, such as increased nervousness, irritability, sweating, loss of weight and strength, diarrhea, and bulging of the eyeballs. The heart beat may become rapid.

Doctor John W. Linnell of England believes that many of the goitres which are never noticed are not completely harmless. He thinks that many of these goitres may at one time or another become toxic and produce the symptoms mentioned. This may happen as a result of infections, pregnancy, or the change of life.

Eventually Toxic He also has the idea that nearly all goitres will eventually become toxic at least to some small degree. Then, too, in many instances the symptoms of toxicity may be so slight that the are not recognized. There may be no more than a feeling of constant tiredness, a certain amount of emotional disturbance expressed by crying, nervousness or irritability. There may be some slight loss of weight, irregular sweating and trembling of the fingers.

In toxic goitre a diagnosis can, as a rule, be made by having a basal metabolism test done. This is a test which is carried out by determining the amount of oxygen a person uses up in a given period of time. The metabolism test measures the rate at which the various activities in the body go on.

Different Types In types of goitre, however, in which the symptoms are not severe, a basal metabolism test is not of much help, since in many instances the rate is not increased. A method of diagnosis which may be of value is to give the patient the proper dose of some iodine preparation over a period of ten days. This should bring about improvement in the patient's condition if a toxic goitre is present.

A toxic goitre causes symptoms because there is an excessive amount of thyroid gland secretion present, and this secretion contains iodine, but just why iodine brings improvement in these cases is not known. Possibly this happens because the iodine affects the nature of the secretion in some way or other.

If it is definitely determined that a goitre is present, treatment should be started at once. Many mild cases may be improved by the use of iodine and rest in bed. New drugs such as thio-uracil have been found helpful in some cases. However, Doctor Linnell thinks that all goitres in adults should be removed without delay, since the continued presence of the goitre may lead to permanent damage to the tissues, particularly the heart. Hence, the removal of the goitre is a preventive measure.

Dr. Bundesen will answer letters containing medical questions only through his column. Address your inquiries to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

EVERYBODY! Buy More and Bigger War Bonds

THE Japs have boasted they're ready for a hundred years of war if necessary. And they mean it! It's up to you—everybody—to pour out America's might NOW in the Mighty 7th War Loan to show the sons of Nippon that their days are actually numbered. And don't forget, either, that the Mighty 7th is TWO GREAT DRIVES IN ONE—it takes the place of the two drives that were scheduled by this time last year. That means, to do your part, you must buy MORE BONDS and BIGGER BONDS. For never has the need been greater. Mountains of equipment must still be made, shipped across thousands of miles of ocean and sent into battle before the final hour of this war.

When you think you've bought all the War Bonds you can, that's the time to buy more.

WE FLEW Without GUNS

By Gen. Genovese

This is a true story of the flight of the "hump"—carrying passengers and cargo over the high Himalayas between India and China. Pilots call it the toughest airline route in the world.

III

You miss crashing like that once in a lifetime, and when you do, you go back and say, "Thanks, God." That, if you have time, you go back again and again, and then you say, "But I didn't have time for more than the first one."

I took the ship down at 10,000 feet per minute and at 10,000 feet I reached over and pushed with gigantic effort to open the side window and get a breath of air.

At 6,000 feet we swept out of the clouds. Below us I could see the Brahmaputra River running its smooth blue ribbon through the deep green blanket of India's Assam Valley. Fox had come around and was sheepishly reorganizing himself at the auxiliary controls. Tsui was stirring behind us, and he and the passengers would soon be all right.

As we came in over the airfield at Dinjan and Tsui went back to tell our passengers to get ready to land, I said to Fox, "I'm going to make it this time, Bill. I'm going to set her down neat as a pin, and Captain Bridgit, that old dog, won't have a chance to wash me out this time."

Fox, of course, didn't know what I was talking about. I hadn't seen Captain Bridgit for years. He had nothing whatever to say about me or about anything I did or did not do now. He was in the Army Air Corps and I was a civilian pilot for the China National Aviation Corporation. But what I was thinking about was all the trouble I had gone through to get into Randolph Field back in 1939—and then that last flight of mine as a cadet when Bridgit, a damned nice guy, I had always thought before, washed me out as an Army pilot with the remark on my final papers: "A dangerous flyer."

Survey Shows More Price Violations Being Reported

CLEVELAND, June 23.—Ceiling price violators in northeastern Ohio paid an all-time high of $100,497 in damages, refunds and settlements during May, William J. Kennedy, acting Office of Price Administration district director, announced today.

The increase in payments reflects the greater emphasis on enforcement activities against black markets and other violations, Kennedy declared.

He added, however, that the $100,497 sum was small compared with the amount consumers in the 19-county OPA district are adding to their own cost of living by submitting to over-ceiling prices.

"Shoppers are not awakening to the need of greater observance of ceiling prices as they are gouged deeper by the few profiteering retailers. They are reporting more overcharges," he said.

Correspondents Tell of Interesting Island War Happenings

By ROBBIN COONS

A MARIANAS BASE—Back home the headlines proclaim jubilantly: "Superforts Blast Jap Homeland." Or "B-29s Scorch Tokyo."

True headlines, true stories—only out here it seems just part of the story. The bomber command sends 500 planes over Japan. That means about 5,500 men, eleven to a plane. Here you come to realize you can never know the whole story until you know what goes on in the hearts and minds of these aerial frontline fighters in those hours before, during and after the headlines are being made.

It's easy to get the idea that Superfort crews are supermen. They fly the biggest planes the longest distances, and Americans love superlatives. So it's a shock at first to meet these men. Many of them look as if they ought to be back home helping "mom" with the chores or kicking up the dirt on a varsity football field. There are older ones: "Me? I'm an old man of 27," one pilot told me. He was only half-kidding. In the main the sky belongs to youth.

They expect and get no special privileges. Many still live in tents, moving into quarters as these become available. In the quarters they live dormitory-style, cots in rows against each wall, each man's belongings stowed or hung beside his cot in whatever homemade chests his ingenuity can devise or his talents for persuasion or barter can procure.

Most of the quarters walls are plastered with pin-ups, including prominently the girl, the mother, the wife, sometimes the babies back home.

It's a close, fraternity-house sort of life, each quarters more or less a closed corporation, each crew a club even more closely knit by hazards shared, by pride in its particular plane, by mere living and flying together. Their bull-sessions are like those of G. I.'s everywhere, except that they're colored by flying talk. While G. I.'s now count "points" these airmen count "missions." After 30, 35 or more missions they can begin to expect home leave. "Home" is probably their favorite word. Many of them plant and tend gardens—flower and vegetable—around their huts.

Sometimes, after a mission, some of the cots are empty. "Maybe they made it to two," you hear, or "maybe they'll be picked up." But you know each man there is wondering. The missing ones are the most vividly present in the hut.

But they don't hang wreaths on quarters doors. When a crew is "broken" it's not merely a matter of replacements. Understanding leaders send the survivors off for a little rest and recreation. The prospective replacements go along, too. In a different setting, the newcomers seem less like intruders.

And then it's to do again. The war goes on. Tokyo . . . Kobe . . .

Osaka . . . and what next? Another objective, every three or four days. Another 3,000-mile round trip through usually terrible weather. Seven or eight hours of flying, monotonous at best, hazardous always, with a job to do at the end and, if luck holds—seven, eight hours back, perhaps in a crippled plane, with the everpresent dread of "ditching."

Most of the men say that monotony is the worst of it, even worse than the time over the target. There most of the crew are too busy with their respective jobs to think much.

After the mission they pile out of the plane into waiting trucks. At the interrogation center they make their reports, get coffee or beer or a shot of whisky if they want it. Tension is easing, worries over friends in other planes are not yet gnawing.

From the airfield, a single bright finger of light points straight up. Hour after hour, long past the time when reason says there is no hope, that beacon shines, hoping, hoping, hoping—for that one plane, or two, for the men of the air.

This is no time for half-way measures!

"Hit 'em twice as hard in the mighty 7th..."

"THE BIGGEST, MOST URGENT WAR LOAN OF ALL!"

• "That's what I'm doing . . .

"Hitting 'em twice as hard—buying twice as many bonds as I ever did before. Uncle Sam has got to raise in this war loan just about as much as he did in 2 war loans last year up to this time. That's why the 7th is the biggest and most important of them all.

"And I'm mighty proud—as every farmer ought to be—to have the chance to help!

"The way I figure it, at this crucial time in the war Uncle Sam is calling on all of us to go whole hog—to produce more food, to build more equipment, to do all we can to hit the enemy—HARD—without a let-up.

"And, of course, all that takes money. Money for thousands of giant new planes, money for those new concrete-busting tanks—for all the tons of ammunition and supplies our fighting men need to do the job up brown.

"Neighbor, that's where you and I come in.

"We can help in the chore of sending our boys everything they need—help by buying all the bonds we can . . . twice as many as we did last time!"

WAR BONDS PAY OFF IN THESE 7 WAYS . . .

- 1 The same Government security backs your War Bonds as backs the actual dollars you put into them.
- 2 You get $100 at maturity for every $75 loaned now.
- 3 You can get your money back, 60 days after issue date, any time you need it . . . in the meantime, you get safety and steady growth.
- 4 You have a backlog to renew farm buildings and equipment after the war.
- 5 Bonds will insure your children's schooling, or provide for your own security, travel, retirement.
- 6 Bonds go into a national nest egg that will help to assure post-war prosperity.
- 7 Bonds transform your love of home and country into action . . . you join personally in the biggest, most urgent War Loan of all—The Seventh!

Ritchie's Perfect Game First In Class A Loop History

Not A Man Reaches First As China Drops Oils 2-0; Mullins Takes Deming 3-0

It looks more and more like Class A is becoming a pitchers' league at Centennial park as the season grows older.

Dale Ritchie, speedballing China hurler, tossed a perfect game—the first in the history of Salem softball—last night to blank the Sinclairs 2-0. Not a single man reached first base during the seven-inning contest.

Kenney Brudery and Francis Lanney, another pair of fine pitchers, tossed good ball games in the other game, but Mullins utilized Deming errors to step up into a tie for first with the Salem News by defeating the Pumpers 2-0. Brudery threw three hit ball and Lanney two.

Ritchie's feat was one for the books. Looking faster than he has for two years, the Potter ace was head man from the start and failed to give the Oilers a taste of the old apple. He fanned six and didn't walk a man. He now has three shutouts in a row, one over the News 5-0, another over Demings 3-0 and the one last night.

The first Pottery run was scored in the fourth inning. With two away, Catcher Don Kopf got a single and after advancing to second, Earl May's one bagger pushed him in.

In the sixth lead off man Russ "Batty" Morrison clubbed a short single and advanced to second but was cut off on Fred Schmidt's throw to Buck Ritchie. Bruce Cope was on the fielder's choice. Cibula forced Cope and was safe at first. Ritchie then beat out a bunt for a single and Cibula scored from third as Ritchie was trapped and run down between second and first for the third out.

Mutt Schaeffer turned in a good hurling exhibition for the Oilers, walking just one and fanning two, bringing his total to 30 strikeouts this season. He allowed five safeties.

Mullins and Francis Lanney made good use of a couple of Deming miscues to clinch their drive for the first round title.

The game was scoreless for two frames and then Vince Domenetti scored when Centerfielder Brown dropped his high fly and fumbled it again as he rounded the bases.

The next tally came in the fifth when Gully Scullion walked to lead off. With Scullion on second and no one down, Al Catlos beat out a bingle to score the run when the throw to third went wild. He later was doubled off second to end the frame.

Lanney made his total all by himself in the sixth when he clouted out a homer, which lit and bounded over the left fielder's head.

Lanney walked two men and fanned none while Brudery gave two free passes and struck out one.

CARDINALS AGAIN LOOKING LIKE A CHAMPION OF OLD

Climbing Slowly But Surely To Top Spot With Winning Streak

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The faces may be new but the St. Louis Cardinals are once again like the champions of old.

Stripped almost bare by the loss of Outfielders Stan Musial and Danny Litwhiler, Catcher Walker Cooper and Pitcher Max Lanier to the armed forces, and the transfer of Mort Cooper to the Boston Braves, baseball followers had confined the World Champions to the list of "also rans."

As late as a week ago it appeared the "experts" were right as the Redbirds lost their fifth game in their last six starts and dropped into the second division. Then came an about face. They won the next five out of six, including yesterday's 5-2 decision over the Chicago Cubs to vault into second place, three and a half games behind the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers.

Drive To Win

Outstanding in the Cards' drive to capture their fourth consecutive pennant were Freshmen Al Schoendienst and Ken Burkhardt, and Buster Adams, brought back to replace Musial. Schoendienst spanked four safeties and tallied three of the five Cardinal runs, while Adams drove in four with a double and two singles and scored the other. Burkhardt spaced five Bruin hits to register his seventh victory of the campaign.

The Dodgers retained their three and a half game margin by shading the Braves 5-7, tallying the winning run in the ninth when Howie Schultz singled in Aule Galan.

The New York Yankees moved to within a game and a half of the league leading Detroit Tigers as the Bronxites defeated the Athletics 2-0 while the Tigers were thumped by the St. Louis Browns 8-4.

Pittsburgh moved back into third place in the National league by beating Cincinnati, 3-1, ending a five game losing streak.

The New York Giants and Philadelphia Phillies divided a couple header, the Giants winning the opener 3-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Van Mungo, and the Phils copping the nightcap 5-4.

In two finely pitched games, Cleveland and Chicago White Sox split. Allie Reynolds dealt the Sox three hits to win the opener for the Indians 2-1, but Orval Grove came back with a neat six-hitter to register a shutout for the Sox 3-0.

Boston's Red Sox pounded two Washington hurlers for 14 hits to win 10-5.

"There will be young men who never would have gone into sports who will some day be competing for championships in America—yes, and winning them, too."

Tex found a dearth of good heavy-weight and light-heavyweight boxing material but an overabundance of lightweights, welterweights and middleweights. That was only natural, he says, because today there are more little fellows than there are big ones.

Perhaps the next heavyweight champion won't come out of the army, but you can bet your bottom dollar there will be a lot of champions in other classes and other branches of sports, who can be labeled "Made in USA"—meaning United States Army.

Lieut. Paul Brown Offers His All To Ohio's High School Coaches Come 1946

By FRITZ HOWELL
CLEVELAND, June 23.—Lieut. Paul E. Brown of the Navy, when he takes over as coach of Cleveland's Panthers in the projected All-America Football loop, will pass on to Buckeye scholastic coaches all the grid lore with which he won fame as mentor of Massillon High school's Tigers and Ohio State university's Bucks.

At a fanning bee today, while on 10-day leave from his Great Lakes Naval post, Brown promised:

"One thing we're going to do is hold an annual football clinic for the Ohio High School football coaches. We'll start it as soon as the league starts functioning, probably in 1946, and we'll give 'em everything we have."

Recalling that the Ohio High School Football Coaches association "backed him to the limit" when he made the jump from Massillon's High school ranks to the Big Ten post at Columbus, Brown said:

"The Ohio coaches can have anything we possess in the line of football knowledge. We won't hold back the least detail of our system when we hold our clinic, and we'll have professionals out there illustrating the different things."

"By giving away every one of our secrets each year, we'll have to evolve new angles on offense and defense each season, to keep the other fellow guessing."

Use Same System

"We'll continue to use the same intensive training system here that we used at Massillon and Columbus. Many said the High school attack we used at Massillon would not be against college teams, but it did. And it will be just as successful against professional teams, for it is built around split-second precision, love of contact, and the will to win."

Brown disclosed he would stick to no one offensive system with the Panthers, but that most of his attack would center around the T-formation with variations.

Brown left Ohio State on leave early in 1944 to enter the Navy, but resigned his Buckeye post a few months ago to take over the professional job here at a reported salary of $25,000 per year for as long as he remains in the Naval service. He now is football officer at Great Lakes.

The New York Giants and Philadelphia Phillies divided a couple header, the Giants winning the opener 3-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Van Mungo, and the Phils copping the nightcap 5-4.

HENRY, ROOKIE, TO HURL FOR INDIANS

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, June 23.—The Cleveland Indians, idle today, planned to give Rookie lefthander, Earl Henry of Roseville, O., his first major league starting assignment tomorrow in a doubleheader against the Chicago White Sox. Steve Gromek will pitch the opener for the tribe.

Henry, who formerly pitched for Zanesville, in the Mid-Atlantic league, deserved a starting role. Manager Lou Boudreau said, because of "the fine curve he displayed in relief appearances."

After the Tribe broke even last night in a twilight-night doubleheader with the Chicks, Boudreau announced that Outfielder Paul O'Dea had received notice to report for induction into the armed forces July 2.

Reynolds Wins

Allie Reynolds snapped the Redskins' four-game losing streak last night as he held the Sox to three hits in the opening tilt to defeat Thornton (Lefty) Lee, 2 to 1.

Don Ross belted his first homer of the year in the third inning to put the Tribe ahead 1 to 0. The Indians gained a 2 to 0 lead in the fourth on Mickey Rocco's single, a sacrifice and Jeff Heath's one-bagger.

Cleveland resumed its losing ways in the nightcap as Orval Grove of the Sox scattered six hits for a 3 to 0 shutout victory.

Ed Klieman was charged with the loss although he yielded but three hits in eight innings.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

FLOYD BEVENS, Yankees — Blanked the Athletics with four hits 2-0 for sixth victory of campaign.

DON ROSS, Indians — Homered to give Cleveland 2-1 edge over White Sox in opener.

ORVAL GROVE, White Sox — Blanked Indians 3-0 in nightcap to gain Chicago and even split.

VAN MUNGO, Giants — Ended teams' four-game losing streak with two-hit shutout of Phillies in opener.

HOWIE SCHULTZ, Dodgers — Singled in winning run in ninth to give Brooklyn 8-7 victory over Boston.

ELVIN ADAMS, Cardinals — Made three hits, drove in four runs and scored other to give St. Louis 5-2 victory over Cubs.

Reds Release Beck

CINCINNATI, June 23.—Walter "Broom" Beck, 39, righthanded pitcher, has been released unconditionally by the Cincinnati Reds. His season record is two wins and four defeats.

IT'S CONTAGIOUS!

The late Lou Gehrig still leads in home runs with the bases filled. He hit 23 with three on during his 12 years with the Yankees.

Cleveland Landlord Gives War Bonds To Babies of Tenants

(By United Press)
CLEVELAND—If you're looking for a landlord that not only loves children but pays a $25 War Bond for each child born on his property, you can find him in Cleveland.

Henry Solomon, like his Biblical namesake, is quite a guy. He's a man of deep philosophy, a lover of children and the owner of several apartment houses.

Recently he paid for his 56th child, David Michale Miller, born to Cpl. and Mrs. Pierce Miller, tenants of Solomon.

Has Paid Out $1,400
The apartment owner has been giving cash to every child born to his tenants for a good many years. He estimates that he has paid out more than $1,400 for blessed events.

The reason for Solomon's benevolence dates back to 1923 when he and his wife and three-year-old daughter came to Cleveland from Hungary. Door after door was slammed in his face by landlords who disapproved of children.
"I resolved then that if I ever owned any property for rent nobody would experience the same heartache that I had felt," he recalled.
And Solomon followed through.

Today 90 families, 50 per cent of which are families of servicemen, rent apartments from him. He is particularly anxious to have servicemen's wives and children. He thinks it is his—and other landlord's—duty to provide living quarters for families of our fighting men.

'Patriotic Duty'
He said it is the patriotic duty of property owners to "welcome our veterans home in the right spirit by offering them accommodations."

Solomon's standard rate of payment used to be $5 for the first child, $10 for the second, $20 for the third and so on. He raised his notation at the outset of the war. The doubling business continued, however, with each subsequent addition.

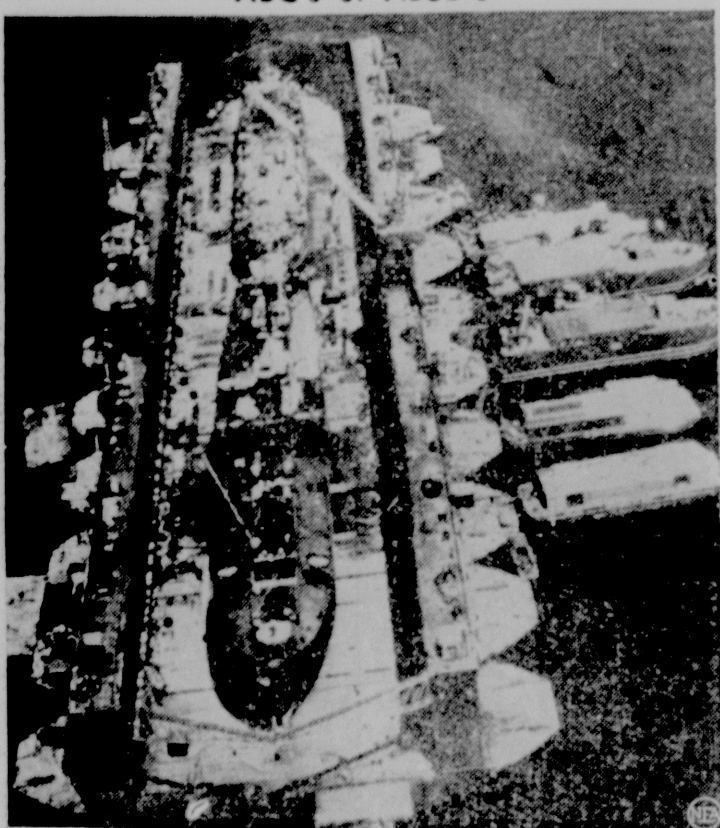

Incidentally, he has promised that, if one of his tenants gives birth to quintuplets, the apartment building in which they live shall be theirs to have, to hold, and to pay taxes on.

Yes, there is a limit to his big heartedness. He draws the line at 16 children per family.

Family Serves Notice

SELMA, O.—Look out Washington, D. C. Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Dillon have three daughters in the Selma High school. Gwendolyn has been elected president of the freshman class. Norma has been elected president of the junior class. Bonnie has been elected a president of the senior class. Their father is president of the school board.

ABC's of ABSD's

The Navy's answer to the problem of repairing ships, from torpedo boats to battleships, is solved in the "ABSD" better known as the floating dry dock. Shown above with two ships in its spacious maw, it is moved to various theaters in the Pacific, welded together, and enables repairmen to handle from 56,000 to 100,000 tons of ships.

Don't Blow that Dough!

It's a temptation to spend money for lots of things — almost anything — these days. It's "shortage psychology" — and how the Black Marketeers love it! Money spent foolishly seldom brings much pleasure or satisfaction, and the time is coming when you'll be mighty glad to have a cash reserve to build that new home or to replace the car that has served so heroically.

So—please—don't "blow" your money! Put it into War Bonds, where it will be making your future secure and bringing Victory sooner to our country.
